Dad praises book for teens

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: God bless you for having published the booklet What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know. It's the best $2.50 I ever spent. I am 39, and regret that I didn't have that kind of information when I was growing up. Thank God I have it now, because I am a single parent raising two children. Your booklet explains the facts about drugs and sex and the problems of growing up in a direct and honest way without being preachy. I have a girl, 9, and a boy, 11, and they understood it well.

You will probably be surprised to receive a letter such as this from a man. — DENVER DAD

DEAR DAD: Thanks for writing. Your letter made my day. Read on for a letter from another writer who not only appreciated my booklet, she offered a valuable suggestion:

DEAR ABBY: I just received What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know. It is excellent. I am a counselor in a junior high school with a large number of Spanish-speaking students. Please consider putting that booklet out in Spanish. And if you do, please point out some cultural differences to make the Spanish edition especially relevant to Hispanics. For example, concerning violence in relationships: Wife beating is sometimes accepted by both wife and husband. The macho man feels that it is OK to beat his wife and children. This attitude should be changed. Abby, you could help to change it. Thank you. — LONGTIME READER

DEAR READER: You are not the first to suggest a Spanish translation of my teen booklet. So, with the help of some friends on the Los Angeles School Board, I finally did it!

For Lo Que Todo Adolescente Debe Saber, readers should send $2.50 in check or money o Abby, Adolescente Espanol, 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 900 includes postage. Please pr name and address clear English-language edition is ble for the same price at t address.

DEAR ABBY: This is in r the Pennsylvania Dutchm year-old cousin who father by his 24-year-old wife:

I know of a recorded ins history where a man 100 y fathered a child by his 90- wife. His name was Abrah his wife's name was Sarah. named their son Isaac.

This can be documented i Testament in Genesis. — BELIEVER IN KENTUCKY

DEAR BELIEVER: I k story well. According to t "Sarah laughed" when she that she would bear a ch proves that Sarah had a bet of humor that most w modern times.

Meniere's has many 'triggers'

Dear Doctor

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please let me have your opinion as to what triggers attacks of Meniere's disease. — Mrs. H.B.N.

There are many known triggers for attacks of Meniere's, a problem involving the canal system of the inner ear that produces episodes of incapacitating dizziness, loss of hearing and ear-ringing. Sometimes an allergy is involved and attacks may follow exposure to the particular allergen. Allergy is a rare cause, however.

In some patients excessive use of salt leads to attacks. Other potential triggers include infections, thyroid disorders, pituitary gland disorders, and physical damage to the ear, as from injury.

But the great majority of Meniere's disease cases occur without any specific known cause. That's Idiopathic Meniere's. Drugs such as meclizine, cyclizine, and atropine are used to treat the disease. If attacks become quite severe, surgery can be performed to drain the excess ear fluid.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is hydrophobia the same illness as rabies? Hydrophobia means fear of water. What is the connection? — F.L.

They mean the same. Hydrophobia was the old name, reflecting the severe throat spasms the victim developed when he tried to swallow anything, including water. While you don't hear the word hydrophobia anymore, rabies is still around. It has become much rarer because of the emphasis on pet vaccination against it in this century. There were less than five cases on average per year over the past 24 years.

The rabies virus lives on in wildlife, especially animals like skunks, foxes, racoons and bats. For those concerned about rats, rodents in general seldom have the virus; that's also true of rabbits. But even so, any animal bite should be reported to the local health agency as soon as possible.

The development of a new vaccine that requires only a limited number of shots has made the prospect of treatment much less grim than in years past. In the old days, the rabies patient had to endure a long series of quite painful injec

Dear Dr. Donohue: Wha connection between older and drying skin? Is this one things you're always talkin You know, it comes with wish you'd find another wa that. Do older folks have more attention to home l levels? I am scratching all — R.I.

I am sorry to have to re dry skin is another of thos which, along with great wis peace of mind, comes with ing age. The facts point conclusion. With the adding the skin's sebaceous glands less active and thus less maintain its moisture. So s to dry and itch.

Some older people finc particular problem when th from a moist area to a dry answer lies in skin moistu petroleum jelly or some creams with urea and lacti part of their compounds. A people have to pay more at keeping humidity up ins homes.

When you come right down to it, there are two kinds of people in this world: those who can tolerate a cricket in the bedroom at night and those who can't.

I won't tell you which group I'm in. I will only say it's a very revealing trait and offers an insight into the person's total personality.

Those who tolerate crickets at bedtime are the kind of people who can sit through Aida and not hear a person sitting behind them who is ripping a breath mint out of a wrapper at 82 decibels.

They're the kind of people who can go camping and be oblivious to a party across the lake where the thump-thump of a stereo playing weird music is carried by the winds to your campsite.

They're the insensitive kind of people who can sleep right through a crying baby at 3 a.m. and have the gall to say the next morning, "Why didn't you wake me?" I'd have warmed the bottle."

They can play poker with the guys until 3 a.m. and then come home and tell you with a straight face that they don't know if the Floyds are getting a divorce or not. Ha! Ha!

You can't miss 'em. Whenever you see a mouse in the house in the fall, these are the flakes who will tell you, "It's only a field mouse and he's just as scared as you are" . . . when you know in your heart the mouse is pregnant and is building a condo in your spices.
